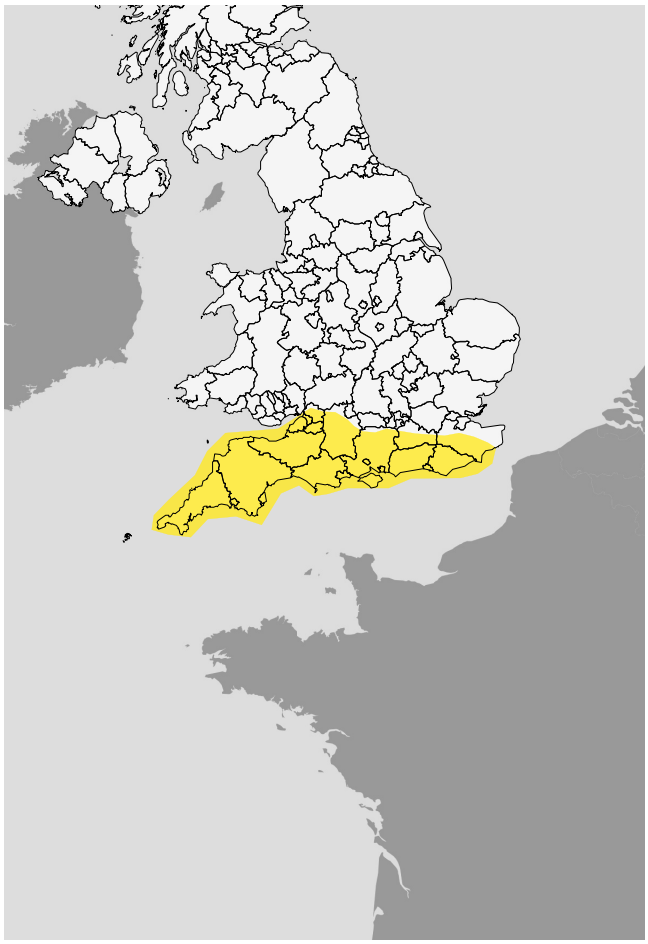
Yellow warning
Rain

Between
08:51 Sun 5 Jan 2025 and
09:00 Mon 6 Jan 2025



Further heavy rainfall may lead to some transport disruption in places.

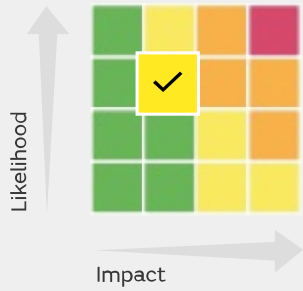
What to expect

- Bus and train services probably affected with journey times taking longer
- Spray and flooding on roads probably making journey times longer

Further details

Further spells of rain, heavy at times, through the course of Sunday and overnight into Monday morning, will bring the potential for some difficult travelling conditions and perhaps some localised surface water flooding.

Through this period, a further 15-20 mm of rain could fall quite widely, with perhaps 30 mm in a few locations, this most likely in southwest England. Parts of southeast England are less likely to see heavy rain after early afternoon on Sunday.



✓ Medium likelihood of low impacts

Rain, perhaps with a little wet snow on its back edge, will clear to the east through Monday morning.

What should I do?

Give yourself the best chance of avoiding delays by checking road conditions if driving, or bus and train timetables, amending your travel plans if necessary.

People cope better with power cuts when they have prepared for them in advance. It's easy to do; consider gathering torches and batteries, a mobile phone power pack and other essential items.

Be prepared for weather warnings to change quickly: when a weather warning is issued, the Met Office recommends staying up to date with the weather forecast in your area.

Check if your property could be at risk of flooding. If so, consider preparing a flood plan and an emergency flood kit.
